

Quest Program for Highly Capable Students

Home School Application: 2012-2013 School Year Report Card Form

Student: _____ Current grade: _____

Enrolled in LWSD Family Learning Center? Yes No If yes, Teacher/Advisor: _____

Student academic performance, based on current grades in school at the time of application, is reviewed prior to assessment determination for the Quest program. District policy and procedures apply for underage first grade students being home schooled (see Policy JEB at www.lwsd.org).

Applicants are not automatically assessed for Quest.

All home school applicants are required to provide proof of residence in the Lake Washington School District (LWSD). Another part of the screening process will include the standards-based report card form. The Lake Washington School District elementary report card uses a 4-point number scale to report student performance based on grade level standard, and secondary report cards use a 4.0 GPA scale. Home school teachers are asked to keep the scale in mind in rating performance.

4 = exceeds standard 3 = at standard 2 = approaching standard 1=not at standard

Directions for students NOT enrolled in LWSD Family Learning Center:

To review student performance based on grade level standards, the student should submit a writing sample. The writing sample should be one of these writing forms: recount, narrative, explanation, or persuasive. The student should also submit a current math sample with problem solving. The math sample should include the use of words, numbers, and pictures to explain the student’s mathematical reasoning.

Directions for students enrolled in the LWSD Family Learning Center:

The teacher/advisor should complete the section below, indicating how well the student performs at grade level standards.
