

Current Opportunities

Honors Program at the UW -

The University of Washington Honors Program is hosting an information night on Wednesday, November 5th, 6-8 p.m. on the UW Seattle campus at Kane Hall, Room 110. This Information Night is designed to give students specific insight into the Honors Program community and the application process. Students will have an opportunity to meet Honors Program students, faculty and staff. Space is limited so registration is necessary. To register go to <http://depts.washington.edu/uwhonors/rsvp/62061>

Washington Aerospace Scholars -

Washington Aerospace Scholars is a program for juniors from across Washington State. The WAS program emphasizes science, technology, engineering and math and encourages students to consider careers in these fields. The program is divided into two components – the online curriculum and the summer residency. To be considered for the summer residency, students are expected meet deadlines and show mastery of the Phase One curriculum. There is no cost to participate in this program. For more information or to apply, go to www.museumofflight.org/washingtonscholars.

HOBY – Hugh O’Brian Youth Leadership program - This is a youth leadership development organization for outstanding sophomore students. Applicants should have leadership ability, a good academic record, outstanding communication skills, critical thinking/problem solving skills, courage to speak out for one’s beliefs, interest in community service activities. Cost is $150 and interested sophomores should give their name to Mrs. Davidson in the Career Center.

National Youth Leadership Forums -National Youth Leadership Forum on Medicine and the National Young Leaders Conference are programs where students can participate in enrichment/leadership opportunities. The Young Leaders Conference is held in Washington D.C. and the Forum on Medicine is held at various medical institutions across the country. For more information on either of these programs, go to www.nylf.org or www.cylc.org.

Lead America - Congressional Student Leadership Conference – a college accredited academic-based leadership program. For more information about this program, please go to www.cslc2009.org. Interested students can be nominated by any teacher or counselor.